Comments: I'm in favor of reprocessing our nuclear fuel and using it in fast breeder reactors. This would be a more efficient use of this energy resource. Because the US does not want to proliferate nuclear weapons we did not develop the fast breeder program and as a result killed the efficient use of nuclear energy. As a result of this political position rouge nations have now obtained nuclear weapons from countries that did not sign the nonproliferation treaty and we are burying our spent fuel, what good did our nonproliferation stand get us? Get the site built so we can bury the spent fuel and close the loop. Enough time has been wasted and the best and most efficient use of this energy source has been lost. Lets salvage what we can.
